Griffin Still Tops Poll Says

Despite Bobby's Aid To Soapy

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News reported today its final pre-election poll gave Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Michigan, 53 per cent of the vote compared with 44 per cent for his Democratic challenger, former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

The percentage was a two-point gain for Griffin compared with a News poll published Oct. 10. Three per cent of the sampling failed to mark ballots in both polls.

The October percentage was Griffin 51, Williams 46.

The News has endorsed Griffin in his race with the former six-times governor.

The News said basic field work on its poll, conducted by Market-Opinion Research Co., was completed a week ago, just prior to a campaign swing by Senator Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., in behalf of Williams and other Democratic candidates.

But the News said a resampling of Wayne (Detroit) County last Thursday and Friday "showed no break in the trend toward Griffin."

Mob Attacks Policemen In Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two police officers were attacked by about 15 young Negroes with bottles and rocks in the Watts area Sunday after a Negro was shot in the hand.

Police said Richard Wilson of Los Angeles hit a policeman with a trash canister then reached under his coat as if to pull out a weapon. The officer fired, wounding Wilson, 21, in the hand, police said.

The crowd surged around the patrol car and ripped out its radio microphone. They freed a man arrested in connection with an earlier shooting.

Wilson was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. Another youth, Denis King, 19, of Los Angeles, was charged with interfering with an arrest.

Will Trade Beer Shop For 4 Grid Tickets

SAGINAW (AP) — There's a man in Saginaw who wants so much to go to the Michigan State-Notre Dame football game Nov. 19 that he's willing to trade his beer store for four tickets. Mike Schrams ran an ad in a Detroit newspaper Friday proposing the trade. He says he's gotten 10 calls so far, but most are from scalpers who want to sell him tickets at $50 to $100 apiece. But Schrams says one man from Lansing has four tickets and is coming to Saginaw Tuesday to look over the store. Schrams, 57, wants the ticket for himself, his wife, Catherine, and two of his children, Celia Mary, 14, and Paul, 17. "I'd like to take my other son, Tony, 20, but he's in Viet Nam," he said. Schrams has one condition on the trade. He said he would have to have $1,700 for the beer in his storeroom and $4,000 for "goodwill."

WORRIED ABOUT THROAT

President May Have Surgery This Week

From Associated Press

President Johnson, apparently worried lest the growth on his throat be cancerous, hopes to have his operation this week, instead of waiting until later this month.

His doctors have said such growths normally are benign, or non-cancerous.

Johnson will drop by Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio, Tex., for presurgical tests today. He hoped to have his operations for the growth on his throat as well as for follow-up surgery on his abdomen at the medical center sooner than originally expected because, he said, "As long as you have a kind of curtain hanging over you, not knowing what is in your throat, what is going to be the result, the best way to do it is to just hit the cold water."

RESTING IN TEXAS

Johnson flew to his ranch Friday for a period of "reduced work" prior to operations to remove the growth from his throat and to repair an abdominal hernia which has formed at the site of his 1965 gall bladder-kidney stone operation.

After going to Episcopal Church services Sunday in Fredericksburg, 15 miles west of his ranch, Johnson told a news conference he wants to expedite the surgery.

Although his doctors had said Thursday they wanted him to follow a curtailed schedule for 10 to 15 days before surgery, he said he wants to be operated on later this week or early next week.

Johnson's hospital visit today was to be brief—just long enough, it was said, for routine tests and X-rays.

FEARS CANCER

A spokesman said no thought was given to attempting a biopsy now on the throat growth. But the President clearly seemed concerned lest the polyp prove malignant.

Johnson began his Fredericksburg news conference with pre-election announcements covering a wide variety of items from the state of the economy—deemed good by the administration—to an announcement that Alan S. Boyd, now an under-secretary of commerce, is being appointed the first secretary of transportation.

Boyd, a Florida lawyer, formerly was chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board. He has been in charge of Commerce Department transportation programs.

Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner, also appearing at the news conference, announced plans for a sweeping reorganization of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, a projected tripling of the national Teachers Corps and a program to retrain 30,000 graduate nurses who have left the profession.

MESSAGE FOR VOTERS

Johnson also took the occasion to read a prepared statement calling on Tuesday's voters to repudiate candidates who try to capitalize on "white backlash."

He said: "I can think of nothing more dangerous, more divisive or more self-destructive than the effort to prey on what is called 'white backlash.'"

"I think it is dangerous because it threatens to vest power in the hands of second-rate men whose only qualification is their ability to pander to other men's fears."

The President planned to make a "non-political" speech today marking National Education Week at the 200-pupil Welchens school in Cotulla, Tex., where he taught Mexican-American students in the late 1920s.

Royalton Will Ballot On Liquor

Royalton township voters will ballot on a liquor-by-the-glass proposal in tomorrow's election. The township board was petitioned to place the question on the ballot several weeks ago. Church groups in the township have organized a movement to oppose the liquor sale proposal.

FORECASTS VARY ON TURNOUT FOR TUESDAY VOTING

How Much Will GOP Gains Be?

Some Certain But Extent Is Big Question

From Associated Press
As the election campaign wound up today, it was estimated that 59 million Americans would go to the polls tomorrow—a record for a nonpresidential year.

There was talk of white backlash and of probable Republican gains nationally.

An Associated Press survey completed five days before the voting indicates the voters are likely to give the Republicans five or six additional governorships, perhaps an additional Senate seat and fewer than 39 additional House seats. The "out" party usually makes congressional gains in off-year elections.

NIXON'S VIEW

The GOP's former vice president, Richard Nixon, had a different outlook—a survey of his own. He predicted Republicans would gain 40 House seats and make good gains in the senate.

The AP survey also indicates the Republicans will gain in one or both branches of some state legislatures, but not on a border-to-border basis.

At a Texas news conference Sunday, Johnson zeroed in on the backlash—the adverse reaction of some whites to violence in some Negro demonstrations and the feeling of some whites that Negroes are pushing too hard for equal rights.

Johnson shied away from specific figures, but quoted the prediction given him by Postmaster Gen. Lawrence O'Brien. "He anticipates there will be no substantial change in the Senate," the president said. "I think the Democrats will have a good, healthy, substantial majority in the House of Representatives."

Here's a look at some of the key races and the AP survey indications on them as the politicians sounded the last hurrahs of the long and often listless campaign.

GOVERNORSHIPS

California: Gov. Edmund G. Brown agreed Sunday he is trailing in public opinion polls in the race against his Republican challenger, Ronald Reagan. But Brown said "they told Harry Truman that back in '48. I will win." He said the backlash is a strong issue and charged Reagan is guilty of "a subtle appeal to the white backlash."

New York: A close one between Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Democrat Frank D. O'Connor. The New York Daily News, winding up its straw poll, says O'Connor will win with a 2.6 per cent edge.

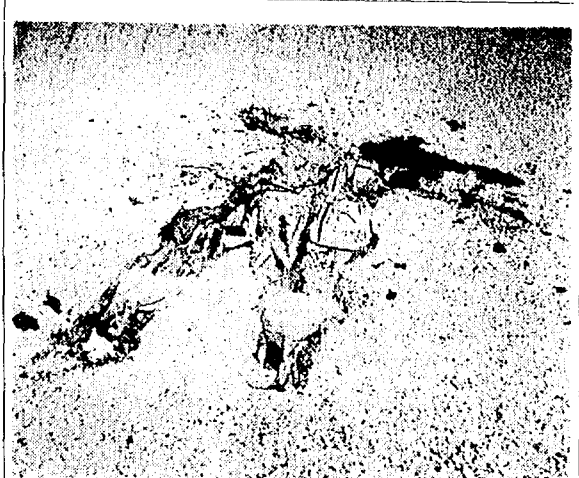

Minnesota: In Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's home state, it's nip and tuck between Democratic Gov. Karl F. Rojava and Republican Harold Levander.

Georgia: Lester G. Maddox, self-styled "segregationist for all time," appears to have a narrow lead over Republican Howard H. Callaway. Write-ins for former Democratic Gov. Ellis Arnall possibly could throw the election into the Georgia Legislature.

Maryland: It's a close one between Republican Spiro T. Agnew and Democrat George P. Mahoney. A foe of open housing, Mahoney scored an upset victory in his primary election campaign, using the slogan, "Your home is your castle—protect it!"

Five Area Youths Picked For Study

Training For Farm Leaders Of Future

Five young southwestern Michigan farmers have been selected by Michigan State university at East Lansing to join 25 others from throughout the state in a special three-year study program to develop leadership.

A similar class of 30, including four area farmers, started last January and a total of 90 men will study under the program. It's financed by a $432,000 grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation.

The five new men from this area are: Dean Straub of Galien, Kay Erickson of Coloma, James Beebe of Dowagiac, Alan Mandigo of Paw Paw, and Donald Sabadin of Watervliet.

They will spend three years in the study program, which includes international travel in the third year and a nationwide trip in the second year.

The new class will begin with week-long seminars later this month. In March, it will tour the state, meeting leaders in business, government, labor and education.

Dean Straub is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Straub, owners of one of Michigan's outstanding dairy herds for many years. Young Straub has taken over the herd's operation since his father's semi-retirement. He also is a state director of the Michigan Animal Breeders Cooperative, a director of the Berrien County Dairy Herd Improvement association, secretary of the Galien high school vocational agriculture department, and a member of the county Farm Bureau.

Alan Mandigo is the son of the late Jerry Mandigo, district horticultural agent for southwestern Michigan for a number of years. The only unmarried member from this area, he lives with his mother and farms a 223-acre fruit and vegetable farm about three miles southwest of Paw Paw. As a member of the Dwarf Fruit Tree association, he toured Europe several years ago visiting fruit operations.

Kay Erickson is the son of Coloma Grower Norman Erickson. He father was named one of the nation's top farmers by the Ford Motor company this year. Kay assists in production of a variety of fruit and vegetables on the family 190-acre farm and property of his own. He is a member of the Coloma board of education.

Donald Sabadin, a 355-acre tree-fruit farmer on the Berrien-Van Buren county line, was named this area's outstanding young farmer for 1966 by the Twin Cities Junior Chamber of Commerce. He also is president of the Twin City Sailors basketball team and is general manager of Mar-Ket Manufacturing company of Coloma, maker of household metal goods.

James Beebe is the son of prominent Cass County Farmer Palmer Beebe and assists in the production of pork and grain on the family 670-acre farm six miles northeast of Dowagiac.

The new classmates will go on a national tour during their senior year.

The truck driver, Marshall Goggins of Plainwell was taken to a Michigan City hospital for treatment of severe lacerations, police said.

Campaign Ending On Hot Notes

Flurry Of Charges At Local Level

A last minute flurry of charges flew this morning as candidates for state, national and local township offices were bringing their campaigns to a close today, ahead of tomorrow's balloting.

The state Republican committee chairman, Mrs. Elly Peterson, issued a charge that State Rep. Floyd Mattheussen, D-Benton township, had used state paid postage to mail out campaign literature.

And the chairman of the GOP campaign in Berrien county filed an unfair campaign practice charge against Mattheussen for an advertisement that Chairman Harry Haisman alleged "assassinates the character and integrity" of GOP Candidate Lionel Stacey.

Last week, Mattheussen had filed unfair campaign practices against Stacey. Today he denied charges against him. (See front page, second section.)

Meanwhile, election officials had varying estimates of the voter turnout they anticipate tomorrow.

DEFERRING OUTLOOKS

State Elections Director Robert Montgomery predicted an 85 per cent turnout in Michigan, unless "we get another show-storm like the one a few days ago." (The Weather Bureau today forecasts occasional showers tomorrow.)

Berrien County Clerk Forrest Kester predicted a turnout around 60 per cent, but added that he hoped the figure would prove higher. He estimated some 40,000 to 45,000 voters would cast ballots in Berrien county, out of an estimated 70,000 registered voters.

The polls will be open tomorrow from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Officials in southwestern Michigan counties generally expressed uncertainty over the size of the voter turnout to expect.

None of the statewide races have built up much interest among "sometime" voters, and the size of the vote may well hinge on the interest in local legislative district contests and in the selection of township officers. There are no city office contests in the election.

The top statewide races pit Gov. George Romney against Democratic Challenger Zoltan Ferency for the gubernatorial chair, and ex-Governor G. Mennen Williams against incumbent Republican U.S. Senator Robert Griffin for a seat in the federal Senate. Neither race, however, has really excited the populace.

Edward Hutchinson, Fennville Republican, will defend his fourth district Congressional seat against John V. Martin, Hillsdale Democrat. The campaign has not touched off any fireworks.

Washington Test Case On Crime

The nation's capital is noted for its contrasts. Two of them, though drawing much attention in recent years, reach back almost into Civil War times for their roots. Washington is noted for its fine stores, impressive buildings, fine parks and tony residential districts. Right next to them, in fact, at the back door of the capitol building, is one of the worst slums in the U.S. Washington's chief product is government which in the final analysis is or at least should be good law and obedience to it. The crime rate in the capital is among the top ten in the nation and while we are accustomed to hearing how bad things are in Chicago, most police authorities feel it is safer to wander about at night in the Windy City than it is to take an unescorted nocturnal stroll through downtown Washington. Waiting for President Johnson's signature to become law or perhaps to take effect without the Chief Executive's pen is a bill on criminal procedure for the District of Columbia. The American Law Institute which is to lawyers what the Taj Mahal is to architects helped Congress draft the bill. Three provisions are under attack. One reduces the facility of getting out from under a criminal charge on an insanity plea by requiring the defendant to show whether he comprehends the difference between right and wrong. Another permits the police to question a suspect up to six hours provided he receives advance notice of his right to counsel and to remain silent. A third extends this detention authority in another direction. The officer may pick up anyone if there is probable cause to believe the suspect is committing or has committed a crime. He can demand his name, address and his business abroad in the city. If the answers suggest a need for further interrogation, the officer can extend his detention up to four hours before releasing the person or placing a charge against him. The first provision merely codifies what the courts have always held. The second and third changes are frontal attacks on recent Supreme Court decisions on arrest and interrogation which are releasing criminals from prison in droves. Senator Bobby Kennedy, the American Civil Liberties Union and a host of professional liberals are shedding tears by the bucket and pressuring Johnson to veto the measure. Kennedy and Senator Tydings from nearby Maryland say the cure for crime is in its cause, and assign a larger dosage of Great Society handouts as the way to make life and property safe for the law abiding citizen. It sounds good and depending on the constituency, it can be hot political stuff, but it ignores the simple fact that economic opportunity or lack of it is not crime's tap root. Countless studies have shown that crime is a spillage which does not start and stop at a neighborhood. The driest suburbs in the land are learning this sad fact the hard way today. If the bill becomes law, it is bound to come under review of the Supreme Court which by the Miranda and Escobedo opinions is making life easy and profitable for the anti-social element. The one bit of salvage is that those cases were split decisions on administrative procedures and rules of law not drawn by the legislative branch of the government. Maybe the Justices, if and when they receive a test case on the D.C. bill will recognize the legislature's prerogative to enact law. More important, possibly the misguided majority will look at the crime statistics first rather than retreat into an ivory tower to ponder the problem.

Victory For Nature

By acting in one instance and not in another, the 89th Congress won the affection of conservationists and saved two of the nation's lovelier natural legacies. What makes the victory more remarkable is the fact that in each instance the meek managed to prevail over the mighty. For 40 years, naturalists struggled seemingly hopelessly to save the dunes along Indiana's Lake Michigan shoreline from encroaching steel mills. The steel mills seemed about to make it all the way. But a counter-offensive by the Save the Dunes Council culminated in enactment of legislation assigning 14 shoreline miles and 6,539 acres of rare natural beauty to a national park. Led by the Sierra Club, other naturalists succeeded in generating enough popular support to dissuade Congress from approving a neat little power play which would have dammed the Colorado River at two places in Grand Canyon. The question raised was whether private interests should be accommodated by sacrificing part of the "single most revealing page of natural history on earth," the Grand Canyon. To its credit, the 89th Congress decided it was not. Thanks to the efforts of conservationists, the national interest prevailed over regional exploitation in both cases.

Weather Forecaster

The Environmental Sciences Administration of the Commerce Department has come up with a discovery that is unlikely to take the pain out of paying taxes to finance the agency's work. It seems that if an arthritis sufferer says it's going to rain, you'd better believe him, because falling atmospheric pressure and rising humidity can cause pains and swelling of joints in rheumatoid arthritis. Last this should sound too much like what we have known for a long time, the ESSA assures us that further "scientific" leads in this area will be forthcoming. But not for a while, because progress in relating weather to disease has lagged. To taxpayers, who also are sensitive to atmosphere, this sounds like an ESSA pitch for more funds.

Hungary Plus 10

Ten years ago the Hungarian people rose against their Soviet masters. They earned the admiration of the free world but not the help that had been promised. Ignored by the West and mowed down by Russian tanks, Hungary's freedom fighters suffered defeat. Today, barbed wire and mine fields still ring Hungary. Soviet armor and infantry remain on duty as a fearsome reminder that patriotic fervor and a few rifles are still no match for the red army. The Hungarians have not submitted to their jailers, however. They have ignored them. Hoping to win the people over, the regime has given them more food and goods but they have given nothing in return. Janos Kadar seems powerless to fight this quiet rebellion. His fist is still wrapped in Russian iron but he cannot smash it down on a target he cannot see, only sense. There is little in this standoff that can provide genuine consolation for the Hungarian people, except perhaps that they have taught the world that communists cannot be created, either with guns or butter.

A declaration broadcast by the Finnish radio looking toward the end of the war with Soviet Russia was presented today as reemphasizing the Finnish thesis that military operations were purely defensive and would be halted when Finland considered her frontier secure.

Finnish labor spokesmen, as well as government leaders, maintain that Finland has no imperialistic aims and that the occupation of Eastern Karelia was a military step calculated to, first of all, remove the hostilities with the attendant devastation, as far away from Finnish soil as possible, and, secondly, destroy Russian bases along the eastern border of Finland which, they said, had served time after time as springboards for attacks against Finland.

By HENRY CATHCART

WASHINGTON —The unwitting acts of the current Viet Nam regime in giving aid and comfort to that nation's enemies represent one of the greatest difficulties the United States is encountering in its efforts to bring the war to a rational conclusion. President Johnson's principal policy makers have sought by every means available to inject a co-operative spirit into the ruling authorities of that nation only to see their work undermined and negated by the apparently selfish, partisan considerations of rival governmental factions. The dimensions of the problem were emphasized in the recent announcement by seven members of General Ky's cabinet that they had resigned, thus threatening to precipitate another of the series of governmental crises that have marked the sad history of Vietnamese regimes. That another crisis should occur was not of itself startling news, but that it should be brought on by presumably responsible officials at the very moment when President Johnson was winging toward the Manila "summit" meeting on the Vietnam issue was shocking. While General Ky succeeded in patching things up at least temporarily, the fact that the government of the country that many national leaders met to preserve may be obsolete tends to undermine the worth of any agreement or procedures. Even if this should not prove to be the case, the Red Chinese and their North Vietnamese puppets have been given ample tools to propagandize against the worth of the Manila meeting. But more than that, the whole sorry situation encourages them to persist in their present untransigent course.

Good news for us: Russia is now encouraging its journalists to aim jokes at the Chinese instead of their old punching bag, the United States. For instance, in Moscow, they're telling about the two cats on an apartment house roof. "Miaoou," says Cat Number One. "Miaoou," answers Cat Number Two. "What's the big idea?" asks Cat Number One. "I'm no fool," says Cat Number Two. "I'm learning Chinese."

Illustrating Russian concern with the vast population of China, is the story about the first day of some future Sino-Soviet conflict. The Russians capture a million Chinese prisoners. The second day they round up two million. All of these prisoners, of course, must be fed. The third day produces four million more Chinese prisoners -- and a phone call from Mao Tse-tung to Brezhnev and Kossygin: "Well, Comrades? Had enough? Give up?"

ed to catch them at!" From Pepperdine: Sunday school teacher: Lot was warned to take his wife and flee from the city, and she was turned into a pillar of salt. Little boy: Please, teacher, what happened to the flea?

When is it necessary to perform surgery for an ulcer of the stomach? One of the characteristics of ulcers of the stomach and the small intestine (duodenum) is that the symptoms tend to come and go as the ulcer heals. It has been noted but not explained that a flare-up or recurrence of an ulcer happens in the spring or the early fall. Dietary indiscretions, a lack of coffee, tobacco and coffee contribute to the return of the ulcer pain. There is no doubt that the emotions, anxiety, guilt and anger play an important role in new attacks of ulcers. This cycle can continue for many years. With treatment the ulcer gets better. With carelessness the ulcer returns. It is only when a complication of the ulcer occurs that surgery is considered. For example, if a blood vessel in the ulcer area of the stomach breaks and there is a large loss of blood doctors become alerted to the possible dangers of such a complication. If this happens repeatedly it is far less dangerous to remove that portion of the stomach that is ulcerous than it is to wait for more serious episodes of bleeding. Sometimes an ulcer heals with scar tissue and adhesions. If this should interfere with the normal passage of food from the stomach to the intestine surgery is sometimes considered.

Why do some infants like to chew on their cribs? How harmful can it be? Young children frequently will chew on their cribs or peel the paint off and eat it. The condition is called pica. This perversion of appetite is usually due to a youngster's curiosity rather than a craving for the contents. The danger of chewing paint and plaster is no longer as great as it formerly was, because modern paint on children's furniture does not, or should not, contain lead. Formerly, lead poisoning resulted from such strange appetites of children. Sometimes an odd appealing taste of the wood or paint may encourage the child to continue. With firmness, without punishment, the child can usually be weaned away from this temptation.

Can tattoos be removed from the arms? Unfortunately, the simplicity of being tattooed does not match the difficulty of trying to remove these purposeless blemishes. It is rare to find anybody who is tattooed who hasn't at some time wanted to rid himself of his branding. Plastic surgery, secondary tattooing with dyes and peeling with drugs has not been successful. The tattoo may fade but in general the results are not gratifying. Young men tempted to be tattooed must be cautioned that regret always follows and that there is a great chance of venereal infection through the tattoo needle. Opening lead—ace of hearts. One of the most dramatic hands in world championship play is this one which occurred in New York in the semifinal round of the World Bridge Olympiad of 1964. It was the very last deal of the 60-board match between Italy and Great Britain. A huge audience watched on bridge-O-Rama as Reese and Schapiro, respectively East-West for Great Britain, fought against Belladonna and Avarelli, North-South for Italy. Avarelli became declarer at six diamonds on the bidding shown and wound up going down three—300 points—as a result of the 5-1 spade break and the 4-1 trump break. Actually, six diamonds was an entirely reasonable contract on the combined North-South cards, and the world-famous Italian pair, playing the Roman Club system, did well to reach the slam. Three diamonds by Avarelli was an asking bid in diamonds, and Belladonna's four club response identified three diamonds to the king! At the other table, where the hand had been played earlier, the British North-South pair, Konstam and Gray, playing against Forquet and Garozzo, arrived at five spades on this bidding: West North East South 2 ♥ Pass Pass 3 ♠ 2 ♠ 5 ♣ Pass 5 ♣

This contract went down one—100 points—due to the unfortunate trump division. The British team thus showed a profit of 200 points on the deal, worth 5 international match points to them, but this was not enough to overcome the 11-imp lead the Italians had piled up before the last deal started. The final score of the match was Italy—125 imps, Great Britain—120 imps. If the British East-West pair had doubled six diamonds and defeated it three tricks—800 points—Great Britain would have gained 12 imps instead of 5, and would have defeated Italy by one imp!

BORN TODAY
Polish-French scientist Marie Sklodowska Curie was born in Warsaw, Poland, in 1867. Because of her involvement with a students' revolutionary organization, she left Warsaw for France, then to Paris, where she met her future husband, Pierre, a professor of physics at the Sorbonne.

A year after their marriage, the Curies became interested in Henri Becquerel's experiments with radiation from uranium salts. Marie Curie found that the element thorium gave off rays like those of Becquerel's uranium and named the phenomenon radioactivity. Testing the power of uranium rays given off by pitchblende, Mme. Curie decided there was some other element in the ore more radioactive than uranium. Within a year the Curies detected two new elements in pitchblende, polonium and radium. For this discovery they won the 1903 Nobel Prize in Physics, sharing it with Becquerel. After the accidental death of her husband in 1906, Mme. Curie continued her work with radium and again won the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1911. An even greater honor, perhaps, was the appointment to succeed her husband as physics professor at the Sorbonne, the first woman in history to hold such a position at any French university. Others born this day include physicist Dr. Lise Meitner, soprano Joan Sutherland, evangelist Dr. William Graham, conductor Efrom Kurtz and sculptor Isamu Noguchi.

NEW HOPE FOR ELIMINATING ELM DISEASE

Parasite May Kill Beetles

Control Program To Be Continued Until Final 'Cure'

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story about Dutch Elm disease in Michigan was written by William Garber, a Berrien county student doing graduate study in journalism at Michigan State University. He is a graduate of Andrews University at Berrien Springs. The story contains the first public report in Michigan of discovery of a natural parasite of the elm bark beetle that spreads the disease.

By WILLIAM GARBER

Hope to eliminate the Dutch elm disease in the twin cities rises and falls about as regularly as the elm trees' leaves blossom and wither.

Once again there is hope.

James C. Butcher, Michigan State University professor of entomology, recently reported finding a neutral parasite in Europe which destroys the beetle that carries the Dutch elm disease.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture considers Butcher's discovery the best hope to end the menace found so far this year.

MUST AWAIT TESTS

But it is only a hope, and it must wait to be tested until Butcher returns to Michigan next July.

Right now, although the problem is not solved, it has been drastically reduced by a control program developed at M.S.U. and administered jointly by the state agriculture department and 79 participating cities, including Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

Where the program is followed, the loss rate for elm trees is down to about two per cent yearly, C.A. Boyer, state supervisor of the program, said. This compares with a loss rate of between 10 and 20 per cent in other cities, he added.

The disease is a fungus that clogs the tree's "life lines" and literally starves the tree until it dies of thirst. This fungus is carried by a beetle which lays its eggs only in dead elms.

HOW DISEASE SPREADS

When the new beetles develop, they migrate to healthy trees to feed on the tender spring growth. In this move, the beetles carry fungus spores which enter healthy trees only where the beetles bite the twigs.

Soon the fungus spreads to all parts of the tree which will die in two years or less.

The control program seeks to destroy the beetle and its breeding ground by spraying DDT to kill the insect and by removing all dead or dying elms.

When this is done on a systematic basis, the elm is being saved—not cured, Boyer explained.

STATE LOSSES

The Dutch elm problem has been in this country for 36 years. It reached Michigan in 1930 and has grown to where it now costs $10 million annually in the state, Boyer said.

"If the cities are willing to spend the money necessary for a control program, we will have elms for generations to come," Boyer said of the effectiveness of the program.

The control program costs roughly $2 per tree yearly.

Last year the Michigan Legislature appropriated $45,371 to help fight the Dutch elm and oak wilt problems, Boyer said.

(Oak wilt is a minor problem, taking little money to fight.)

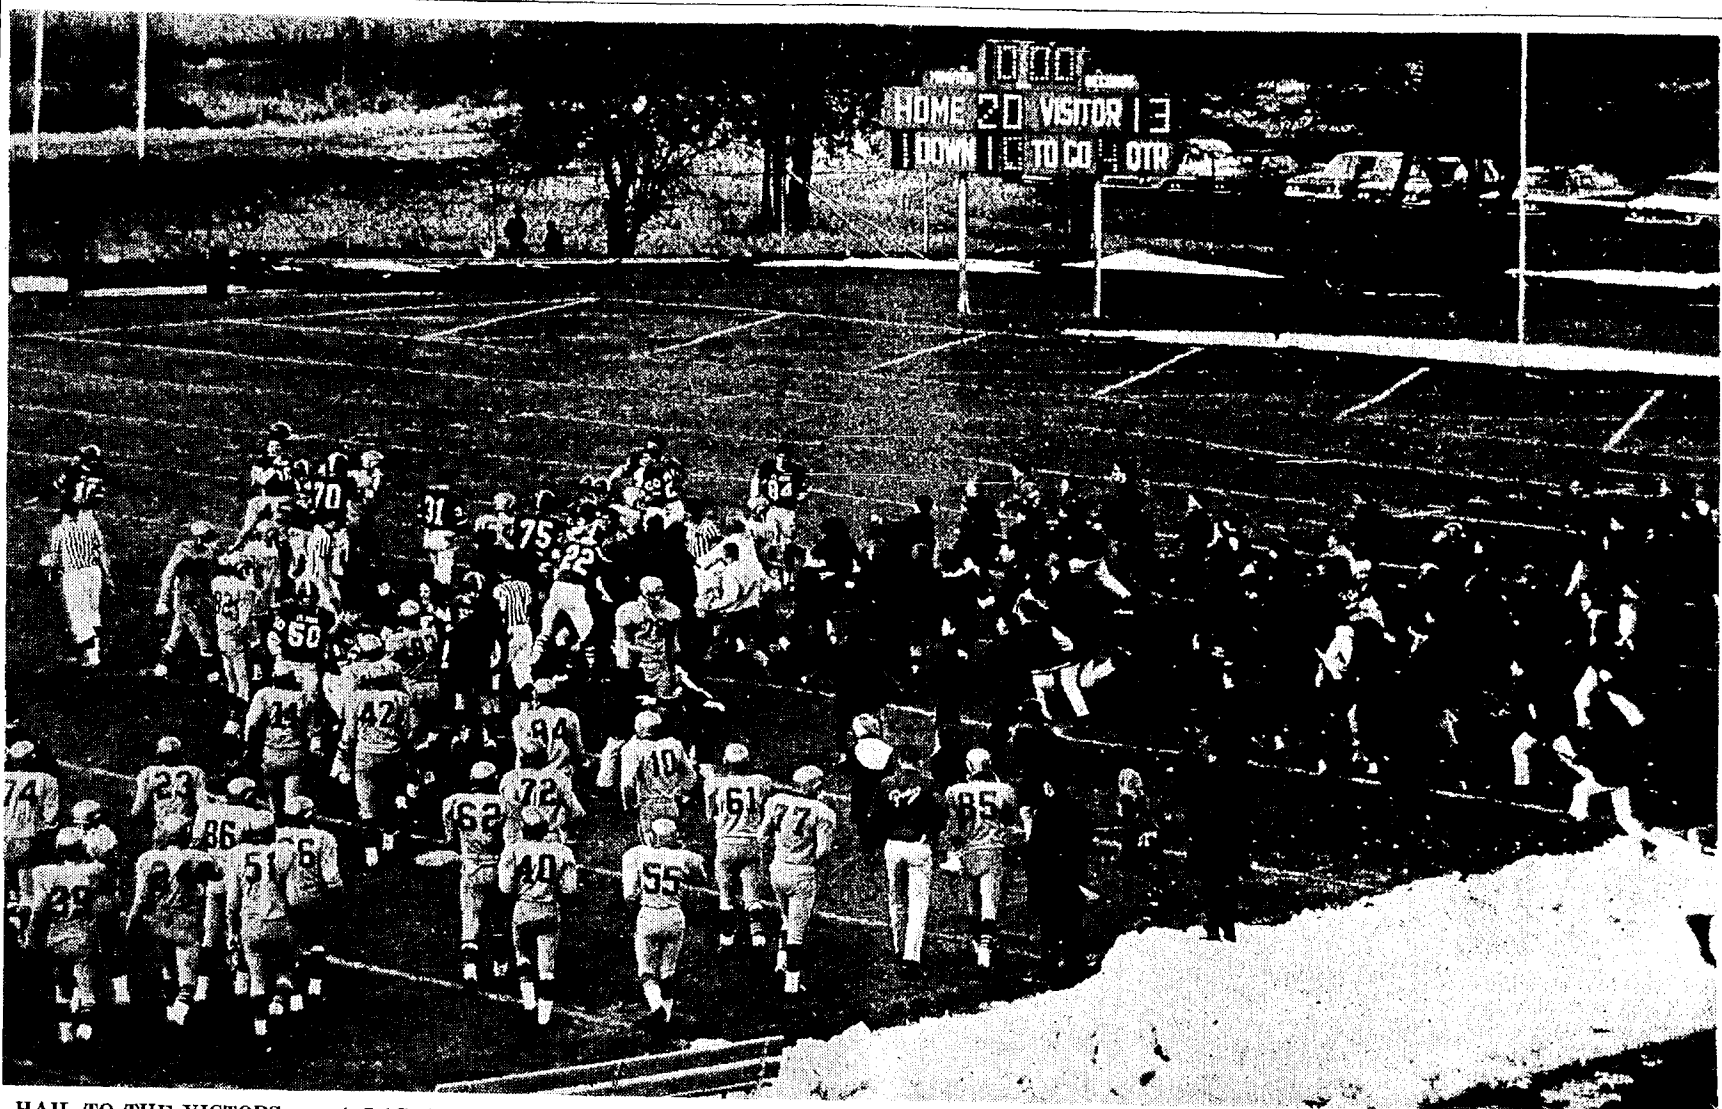

Prof. Butcher may have already found the final answer in the discovery of the beetle-killing parasite.

Meanwhile, cities and towns across Michigan and much of the nation are caught in a struggle that his compared to the war in Viet Nam—neither side is winning the war, but neither one is losing it either.

Building Erected By Peterson

A photograph of work being done on the Michigan Fruit Canners new truck garage that appeared in Saturday's edition of this newspaper inadvertently implied that the building was being constructed by the Gosnick-Gano Construction company.

Actually the new garage on Coloma-Riverside road is a Butler Building being erected by Peterson Building Sales of Benton Harbor. The Gosnick-Gano firm is doing cement work on the $30,000 structure.

Some Local Offices To Be Closed

Election Day And Veterans Day This Week

Some financial and governmental offices will be closed on election day tomorrow and most will be closed in observance of Veterans' Day, Friday.

Most retail stores will be open both days.

Offices in the Berrien county courthouse will be closed both days, including the license bureau in the sheriff's department of the county jail. No road tests will be given this week, since the regular test days are Tuesdays and Fridays.

Scheduled to be open tomorrow, but closed Friday, is the Berrien Department of Social Services, located in the courthouse but listed on a separate telephone system.

CITY HALLS

Offices in the Benton Harbor city hall will be open both Tuesday and Friday. St. Joseph city hall will be open Tuesday, but closed Friday.

Also open Tuesday for business, but to be closed Friday, are the Social Security Commission office, the Selective Service office, the Employment Security Commission office in St. Joseph, and the auto license bureau, also in St. Joseph.

Post office officials in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph report that regular mail deliveries will be made Tuesday, but only special delivery mail will be delivered Friday.

All banks and savings and loan offices will be closed Tuesday and Friday.

Dystrophy Campaign On Tonight

Twin City Firemen To Ring Doorbells

Firemen and volunteer assistants in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor will begin the annual drive for muscular dystrophy tonight (Monday, Nov. 7) at 6 p.m., drive chairmen, Joe Mitchell of St. Joseph and Bob Jones of Benton Harbor, reminded twin cities residents today.

Both chairmen request porch lights be left on to indicate interest in the drives.

The St. Joseph firemen hope to canvass the entire city this evening while Benton Harbor will continue the drive each evening this week until all residents in the city have been contacted.

SJ Woman Hurt; Will Get Surgery

Mrs. Henry H. Tippet, 44, of 2011 Forbes avenue, St. Joseph, underwent nose surgery this morning as a result of a two-car crash on Lake Shore drive Saturday.

St. Joseph Memorial hospital spokesmen said Mrs. Tippet was in satisfactory condition.

She was hurt about 10:45 Saturday morning when the car her husband was driving crashed into the rear of one driven by Mrs. Martha J. DeHoff, 30, of Box 34-A Lake Shore drive.

St. Joseph police report Mrs. DeHoff was stopped in the southbound lane of Lake Shore drive waiting to turn into her driveway when the Tippet auto hit the DeHoff car in the rear.

Tippet was treated for scratches and released at the hospital. Also suffering apparently minor injuries were Mrs. DeHoff's daughter, Lori, 7.

Two other DeHoff children, Jeff, 5, and Brad, 9, were unhurt as was Sally Tippet, 13.

Tippet told police he was about to pass a truck and couldn't stop in time to avoid the accident. He was charged with failure to stop in an assured clear distance.

Tippet is director of management planning for Auto Specialties Manufacturing Co.

Daughter To Be On TV Show

The daughter of a former Twin Cities area couple will appear on Art Linkletter's House Party radio and television program Wednesday.

Sari Kay Saffo, 7, will be seen and heard from coast to coast over the CBS network on the program that is famed for cute expressions of youngsters. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Saffo of Granada Hills, Calif. They moved from the Twin Cities eight years ago to California where he is a buyer specialist with RCA.

Two other children of Mr. and Mrs. Saffo, Rebecca, 10, and Gary, 8, were born in Benton Harbor.

Employee Not Lucky With Cards

A 20-year-old attendant at a St. Joseph township service station apparently had trouble picking the right cards in a game Saturday afternoon and has even more troubles today.

The attendant, Larry Wise, route 2, Coloma, was arrested on a charge of making a false police report, after telling Berrien sheriff's deputies a Chicago man took him for $50.

Deputies Ron Schalon and Jon Nichols said Wise gave the impression that the money had been taken by a short change artist. An area broadcast was put out and New Buffalo state police took a Frank Brooks, 56, Chicago, into custody.

Brooks, in a story apparently confirmed later by Wise and another station attendant, said he had purchased $5 worth of gas at Ehrenberg's Standard service, I-94 and Niles avenue, and then offered to play "three card-high card" for the $15 change from his $20 bill.

Deputies said Wise took money from the station cash register to back their play. Then he and the other attendant, Bill DeLittle, lost a total of $76 in the game, according to deputies.

Deputies said Brooks returned the money and was warned about gambling. Wise was charged with making a false report, and then released on his own recognizance, pending further investigation.

HAPPY HOMECOMING: Queen Diane Vasta presided over a jubilant homecoming for the St. John's Irish Sunday at Filstrup field. Snow was piled along the sidelines but there was a clear track for the Irish on the field to defeat the St. Joseph Ponies. In intra-school competition, the senior's float "Irish Don't Forget" was judged best. Diane also reigned over a victory dance. (Staff photo)

IN BENTON TWP.

Four Youths Faced With Felony Charges

Four juveniles were arrested on felony charges by Benton township police over the weekend.

Police said the boys were caught red-handed in committing a burglary at the Byrite Super Market, 2235 Red Arrow highway, Benton Heights, early Sunday morning.

Police said the boys were caught inside when the store was surrounded by Benton township and Benton Harbor police after the owner of an adjacent store heard noises and called police.

The two arrested boys implicated a third 16-year-old who was subsequently brought to police headquarters by his mother, according to police. The two juveniles caught inside the store were lodged in the county juvenile homes at Berrien Center, police said.

Discovered about noon Sunday was a break-in at the Pizza Den, 2065 Red Arrow highway. Township police said about $1,000 damage was done to two pinball machines, a jukebox, and a cigarette machine. Taken was candy and cigarettes.

Police questioned the same boys caught at Byrite and got verbal admissions on the Pizza Den burglary, officers said.

Arrested Saturday night was a 15-year-old Benton township boy. He was charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile, petty larceny and having no operator's license.

Township police were called to Tower drive Saturday night by residents of the area. Residents said a car was prowling the area and that they feared vandalism.

The two arrested boys implicated a third 16-year-old who was subsequently brought to police headquarters by his mother, according to police. The two juveniles caught inside the store were lodged in the county juvenile homes at Berrien Center, police said.

Hearing Is Adjourned

In St. Joseph Municipal court today, Judge Maurice A. Weber reported the preliminary hearing demanded by Mrs. Daisy Reschke in the shooting of her husband has been adjourned to 2 p.m. Nov. 22.

Mrs. Reschke is charged with firing five shots from a .22-caliber pistol at her husband, Otto, a week ago today. Reschke was hit once in the back.

Two Stores Looted In St. Joseph

Burglary Losses Total Some $700

Burglars took some $700 worth of goods from two south St. Joseph business places Friday night.

Two portable television sets, one of them a color receiver, and two portable radios were taken from Froberg Television at 2940 Niles avenue. Total value of the Froberg loss was set at $632.78.

Another portable radio, a wrist watch, some cigarette lighters, a dart board and a tape printer were taken from Wendt Insurance Co. at 3104 Washington avenue. No value was set on the Wendt loss.

St. Joseph police investigated the Froberg burglary and report the thieves apparently smashed the glass in a back door to make their entry and then carted the stolen goods out the front door.

The glass was broken and screen cut on the back door of Wendt Insurance to gain entry, according to Berrien county sheriff deputies who investigated that case.

ADDITION TO V-M: First new construction in many years on Territorial road in downtown Benton Harbor is rising in this addition to the Voice of Music Corp. plant at Territorial and Fourth street. Holland Construction Co. of St. Joseph is the con-

ST. JOSEPH, MICH., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1966

NOW MATTHEEUSSEN FACES UNFAIR CHARGES

Proposal
For Four
TownshipsMay Join College
District In CassBy BILL HAMILTON
South Haven Bureau

DECATUR — Arguments over the annexation of four Van Buren townships to the Southwestern Michigan College district have grown more heated in the closing days before tomorrow's election on the question.

Voters in Keeler, Hamilton, Decatur, and Porter townships will ballot on whether they should join the Cass county community college. If the annexation passes, the township proposition carries, the township approving the annexation will pay one and one-half mills taxes on the state equalized value of property. This will be about three mills on the assessed values.

By levying this tax on all property within any township voting to annex, residents of that township who attend the college will pay $60 less per semester for tuition.

Those townships which do not vote to join the Cass college will be able to vote later on a proposition to establish a community college in the Van Buren intermediate school district. The tax rate will be one and one-half mills in the Van Buren district also, according to the report issued by the Van Buren college committee.

Persons favoring annexation claim that the Cass college is more convenient than a Van Buren college will be. Residents of the townships have received letters and brochures in the mail extolling the advantages of joining the Cass college.

Advertisements ranging in size up to a full page have been run in the weekly papers serving the areas involved. Meetings have been held to persuade voters to give approval to the proposition.

Persons opposing the proposition have been cynical about the whole thing. "They claim they are not interested in our tax money," said George Dunham, Porter township supervisor, "but someone sure is spending a lot of money just to look out for us."

The tax base of SMC has been estimated at about $110 million. The addition of the four Van Buren townships, if approved, would give the district another $25 million in tax base. Because of existing college districts on both sides, (Berrien and St. Joseph counties) and the proposal for the Van Buren college on the north, these four townships represent the only additional tax base available for the Cass district.

"FABRICATION"

Nearly every letter and advertisement by annexation proponents which refers to the proposed Van Buren college has indicated that it will probably be in South Haven. This has been termed "an out-and-out fabrication" by the Van Buren college study committee.

As a matter of law, no one knows where the proposed Van Buren college, if approved, will be. This can only be decided by the first board of directors of the college.

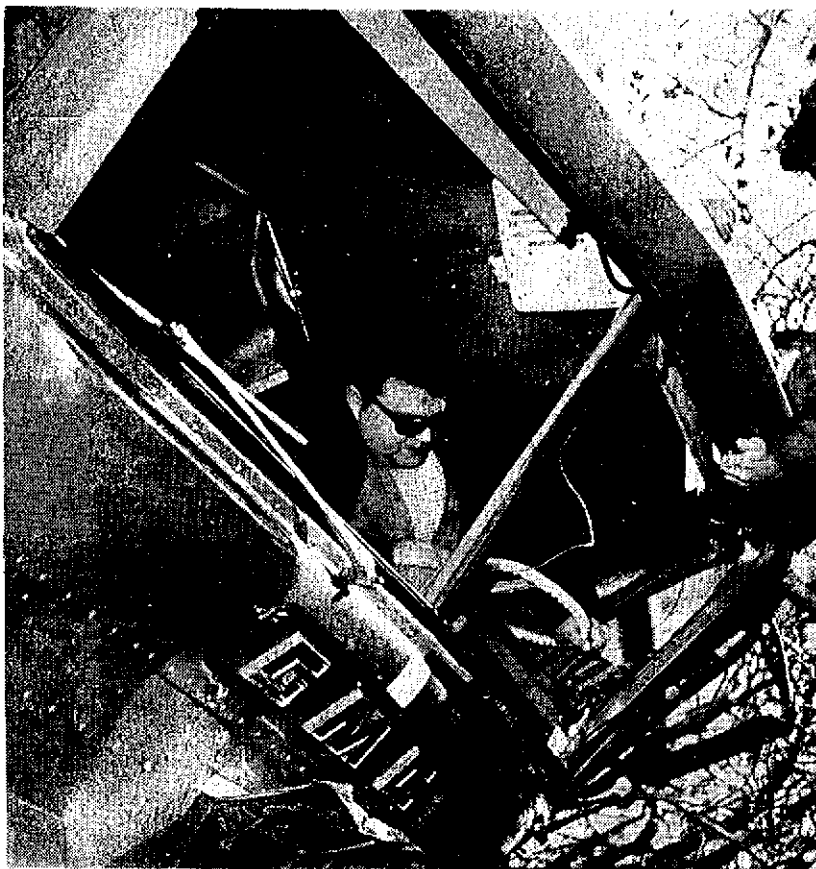

Among those who have opposed the annexation are the Hartford board of education, the Decatur board of education, two members of the Lawton board of education, the Decatur board of education, the Lawton board of education, and the Lawton board of education.

As a Hamilton township Supervisor Millard Phillips and Decatur Supervisor Ted Lafekas have both come out strongly in favor of annexation to SMC. They have been joined by a number of residents in the townships in urging a yes vote in the question.

THREE OAKS — The name of Mrs. Mabel C. Payne as Democratic candidate for clerk of Three Oaks township was inadvertently omitted from a list of candidates published in this newspaper's special pre-election section Friday.

Mrs. Payne is opposing the Republican candidate for clerk, Mrs. Marjorie Drier, to succeed the incumbent clerk, Mrs. Margaret Grantham who did not seek re-election.

DRIVER PINNED: Fairplain truckdriver, John Bailey, 23, of 2150 Samuel avenue, was pinned in the cab of his semi-trailer truck briefly yesterday when it tipped over on Napier avenue at Morgan road, Bainbridge township. Berrien Sheriff's Deputy Ron Immoos said Bailey had swerved to avoid a car in front of him and his load of packed apples tipped. Bailey suffered minor chest and knee injuries, but was charged with failure to have his vehicle under control. David G. Oliver, 19, South Bend, was not injured. Oliver was charged with failure to signal for a turn.

Council On Aging Sets
BudgetPlanning Project
Early Next Year

The Berrien County Council on Aging will begin a one-year planning and development project on Jan. 1 with a budget of $62,628, it was announced today by Rabbi Irving Dick, chairman of the council.

Rabbi Dick indicated that 75 per cent of the costs will be financed through the Michigan Commission on Aging, which has allocated $19,371 for Berrien county. The remaining funds, he said, must come from local sources.

Of the $7,057 needed in local support, Rabbi Dick said, about $4,000 will be in the form of cash. The rest of the local funds may be of the "in kind" variety, including the use of office space of an existing organization.

Rabbi Dick stated that plans are now under way to utilize the office space and part of the staff of a Twin Cities area civic organization. He added that a full-time project director, also will be hired soon. An announcement will be made soon on the hiring of a director and the office location during 1967.

The Berrien County Council on Aging was formed following a conference on aging conducted last January by the Twin Cities Area Community Services Council, a service of United Community Fund.

Since then, it has worked with the Michigan Commission on Aging as an autonomous, voluntary county-wide civic group. Several months ago, the Berrien county council applied to the state commission for a project grant under the federal Older Americans Act.

Approval of the grant was announced last week by John B. Martin, chairman of the Michigan Commission on Aging. Berrien is the tenth area in Michigan to receive such an allocation.

Rabbi Dick stated that the goals of the planning project during 1967 will be to:

- Determine the extent of social services available in Berrien County for the elderly.
- Evaluate the immediate and long-range needs for the county's aging population.
- Recommend the implementation of specific projects.
- Suggest methods to meet the priority needs of the elderly in Berrien.
- Establish a means of continual evaluation of programs and services.

The one-year grant will be for study purposes only, Rabbi Dick

I-94 MOWING
Reject Bids
On One Job;
Accept Other

The Michigan Highway commission has rejected all bids for an I-94 roadside mowing project from LaPorte road near New Buffalo to I-196 in Benton township.

The commission, however, accepted a bid of $15,198 on 33 miles of roadside mowing on I-94 from I-196 east to the Van Buren - Kalamazoo county line. Brencal Contractors, Inc., of Detroit submitted the lower of two bids on the job which has a Sept. 15, 1968 completion date.

The Highway Commission had estimated that the mowing projects would cost $15,000 each.

Allegan
Tax Spread
AnnouncedFor Cities
And Townships

ALLEGAN — Allegan county's annual tax statement designating the tax spread for townships and cities has been compiled by County Clerk Esther W. Heltinger's office preparatory to sending it to the State Tax commission for approval.

Based on state equalized valuation of $188,858,046, the real property tax for the county totals $76,081,725. Personal property taxes were set at $27,569,881.

County taxes levied within a 15 mill allocation or separate tax limitation are divided between a general tax at $660.790.89; a road tax of $74,990 and an extra-voted tax for a new county medical care facility.

said. If new programs for the elderly are developed in 1968 as a result of the year-long survey, additional financing will be needed.

"There has been no coordinated approach to planning for the aging in Berrien county," Rabbi Dick said. "Neither has there been a concentrated effort to develop programs in cooperation with and for all our senior citizens."

"Attempts have been made to organize county-wide programs, but these have failed primarily because of the lack of professional direction. Overall, Berrien county has been somewhat disorganized in social planning for our older citizens."

Ad Error
Makes 'Em
Too Smart

A typographical error in a paid political advertisement in the St. Joseph Herald-Press and the Benton Harbor News-Palladium Friday, Nov. 4, 1966, Democrat Floyd Mattheussen, who is seeking re-election to the House of Representatives from Michigan's 44th district, publicly accused Lionel Stacey, the Republican candidate, of misrepresenting himself as a veteran of World War II. The ad asked, "Where was Stacey when the fighting was going on during World War II?" The ad pointed out that Stacey was playing basketball in 1946 for Berrien Springs high school.

"The fact that Stacey enlisted at the age of 18 on Sept. 25, 1946, and was discharged as a corporal on Jan. 16, 1948, was conveniently avoided by Mattheussen. Stacey was discharged with the WWII victory medal, glider parachute badge and army of occupation Pacific theater badge. Congress declared the official end of World War II hostilities in 1951.

"The ad assassinated the character and integrity of Stacey, a well-known, highly respected junior high school principal. Stacey has never represented himself as a combat veteran of World War II, only as a veteran of WWII."

"A copy of this ad is being forwarded under separate cover. I am looking forward to a full-scale investigation of my charges."

Two Youths
Arrested
In Break-In

BRIDGMAN — Two Buchanan youths were arrested at their homes Sunday morning in connection with breaking and entering of the Bowling Green Bowling Alley and Country club just east of Bridgman, New Buffalo state police reported.

The two identified by troopers as Lanny Fisher, 18, Mead road, Buchanan, and Roland Brado, 20, 619 West Roe street, Buchanan, were to be arraigned on a charge of breaking and entering today.

Officers explained that at 3 a.m. Sunday a neighbor of the country club alerted them that someone was in the building. On arrival, they said they found that the building was empty but that large quantities of beer had been stacked near a rear entrance.

Troopers said they noticed a suspicious looking truck parked in town on their way to the scene. They said they traced the license number to Prado, who was arrested at 4:30 a.m. Sunday. Fisher was taken into custody at 10:30 a.m.

Complains Of
Blast At Stacey

Unfair campaign practice charges were filed today against Democrat State Rep. Floyd Mattheussen by Wayne Haisman, campaign chairman for the Berrien County Republican committee.

Haisman claims one of Mattheussen's political advertisements "assassinated the character and integrity" of Lionel Stacey, Mattheussen's Republican opponent in Tuesday's election.

These GOP charges come in the wake of similar charges Mattheussen filed last week accusing Stacey of "character assassinations, untruth, inuendoes and distortions." Mattheussen objected to advertising in which Stacey recounted how four Democratic legislators from the Detroit area were arrested on charges ranging from drunk driving to lawlessness.

In reply to Haisman's charges, Mattheussen said "My opponent is using an 11th hour Birch-like smear that has marked his whole campaign from beginning to end. As expected, he is now trying desperately to shift the attention from himself to me."

"Stacey's attempt to make himself out a war hero when he wasn't, backfired on him," said Mattheussen.

Haisman said in his letter to the Fair Campaign Practices commission in Detroit that:

"In a paid political advertisement which appeared in the St. Joseph Herald-Press and the Benton Harbor News-Palladium Friday, Nov. 4, 1966, Democrat Floyd Mattheussen, who is seeking re-election to the House of Representatives from Michigan's 44th district, publicly accused Lionel Stacey, the Republican candidate, of misrepresenting himself as a veteran of World War II. Burglars took a camera, three batteries and about $200 worth of tools in a break-in at Klug Farm Equipment, M-62, Eau Claire, Berrien sheriff's deputies said Saturday.

The camera was valued at more than $100, Deputy Fred Reeves said. The three heavy duty batteries were valued at $125. Tools taken were mainly sockets and wrenches. Entry was gained through a side window, Reeves said.

In other reports, Alan Essig, route 1, Bridgman, said Sunday a .22 revolver was stolen from his workshop. All gas caps were taken from equipment at Consumers Asphalt Paving Co., Zoschke road, deputies said this morning.

Robert Schmidtke of Lincoln avenue, Lincoln township, told deputies his four-month-old German shepherd dog was wounded Saturday. Schmidtke said he heard a shotgun blast and went to investigate as his land is posted against hunting without permission.

The dog, he said, came limping into the yard, covered with blood. It has been blinded in one eye, but is expected to live, he said this morning.

In vandalism reports, Ron Dillon, 859 Adams street, Benton Harbor, told deputies his truck was damaged slightly when a bottle was thrown against it while it was parked on Meadowbrook avenue, Benton township.

Robert Quinl, Shawnee road, Oronoko township, said his mailbox was blown up with a firecracker.

MessagesSays Democrat
Used State Funds
To Mail Them

Republican State Chairman Elly Peterson charged today Democrat Floyd Mattheussen has used tax dollars to support his campaign for re-election as representative of Michigan's 44th district.

Mrs. Peterson said she has received reports from the state capitol and 44th district residents that Mattheussen had mailed thousands of "legislative reports" in the last few days, using state-paid postage.

"This is obviously a last-minute attempt to grab votes with the people's money," she said, adding that "the last legislative session ended weeks ago, so why, if not for partisan gain, did he wait until the week before the election to issue a report?"

Mattheussen replied that "Every legislator in the capitol building sent out legislative reports. It is entirely legal and proper for them to do so."

"NONPOLITICAL"

He called his report "definitely nonpolitical."

As to the reason the report didn't reach citizens until last week, Mattheussen said the old-time Republicans in Lansing knew that they should get their reports in early to avoid the last-minute crush. "My letter was delayed to the last hour because the Republicans had gotten up to the Legislature Service Bureau first and dominated the entire operation," he said, "and the rest of us were unable to get ours out earlier."

"Senator Zollar's own questionnaire almost didn't get out in time because of the same delay," said Mattheussen, referring to a survey Zollar made of 5,200 voters on various issues.

Mrs. Peterson said "Mattheussen's maneuver cost the taxpayers at least $3,000, especially when you consider that state employees, state equipment, as well as state postage, were used to produce this campaign pitch."

"BLATANT VIOLATION"

She bases her charge on this alleged paragraph in Mattheussen's report:

"Again let me say it has been an honor to represent the citizens of the 44th legislative district during the past two years and I trust that I may have the opportunity to use the valuable experience gained in my first term to again represent you and your interests for the next two years."

The state GOP chairman called this "an unfair campaign practice" and a "blatant violation of the public trust." She said the matter should be investigated by proper law enforcement officials, including the state attorney general.

Seven persons were reported injured Saturday night in two separate auto accidents investigated by police in Benton Harbor.

Injured about 9:15 p.m. in a one-car accident on Waukonda avenue, near Stevens street, were:

Lillian Beatrice Jones, 20, of 584 North Winans, listed as the driver, and her passengers, Lavinia Crenshaw, 27, of 315 North McCord; June Williams, 33, of 155 Bond; and Wallace Fluelen, 37, also of 155 Bond, all of Benton Harbor.

Reported injured about 9:20 p.m. in a two-car collision at East Main street and Seely street were:

Allen Simms, 55, Chicago, listed as a driver, and his passengers, Arthur Vell, 30, of 612 East Main, Benton Harbor, and James Beamon, 34, Chicago.

Patrolmen Fred Byers and Robert Irvin said the auto driven east on Waukonda by Miss Jones, went out of control, traveled over a tree lawn and rammed a utility pole head-on. Officers said the driver was cited for reckless driving.

A spokesman at Mercy hospital said Lavinia Crenshaw is in fair condition, while the others were treated and released. Police listed injuries to Mrs. Crenshaw as a fractured right leg and abrasions.

Police said the accident at Main and Seely involved autos driven by Simms and by Lloyd R. Murray, 32, of 175 Territorial road, Benton Harbor. Police said Simms and his passengers told of pain. Hospital spokesmen said Vell was treated and released, but Simms and Beamon were not treated.

Police said Murray was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way and booked on a drunk and disorderly charge, but released on a $100 bond.

ACCIDENT PREDICTED: A 1965 convertible, which two motorists told Berrien sheriff's deputies they expected to find in a ditch after it passed them at high speed early Sunday morning, crashed into a stop sign and overturned on Pipestone road in the village of Sodus. The driver, Mark W. Glenason, 18, Hillandale road, Sodus township, suffered head injuries in the crash but is listed in good condition at Memorial hospital today. Examining the wreckage are Sodus Township Constable Ed Juergenson, left, and Deputy Ned Knuth.

SEA SYSTEM: Operational three-axis laser gyroscope lights up the face of the new Honeywell system which senses the roll, pitch and yaw of a vessel at sea.

JUST WAITING: Sign on which these vervet monkeys are perched does not refer to finances but to fact that a river bank was closed by flooding in Nairobi.

SET IN PLACE: One of the heads of the four rock-hewn colossi of Ramses II is hoisted into position on the new site of Abu Simbel temple at the Aswan Dam.

SPECIAL MEETING
SEPTEMBER 29, 1966
A special meeting of the Chikaming Township Board was held on September 29, 1966, at the Lakeside fire station. All Board members present; also representatives of Ralph Petrie & Associates.
The supervisor stated, the purpose of the meeting to be the opening of bids on an elevated water storage tank and foundation.
Alternate bids on a 200,000 gallon and a 100,000 gallon tank from Chicago Bridge & Iron Company, Detroit; W.E. Caldwell & Company, Louisville, Kentucky; Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company, Chicago; Universal Tank and Iron Works, Inc., Indianapolis, Indiana, were opened and examined.
Bids for a foundation for an elevated water storage tank from Universal Tank and Iron Works, Inc.; German Brothers, South Haven; and Edwin Putzke, Union Pier, were inspected.
All bids were delivered to Petrie and Associates, engineers of the project, for study and recommendations.
There being no further business, the meeting adjourned upon motion of Sperry, supported by Harrington.

Township Clerk

SPECIAL MEETING
OCTOBER 20, 1966
A special meeting of the Chikaming Township Board was held at the Lakeside fire station on October 20, 1966 at 7:30 o'clock. All Board members present; also Ralph W. Petrie.
The meeting was called to order by the supervisor, who stated the purpose to be a hearing of the recommendations of Mr. Petrie on the bids received September 29, 1966 on an elevated water storage tank.
Following a discussion it was moved by Harrington, supported by O'Grady that Mr. Petrie be authorized to prepare contracts for the construction of a 200,000 gallon elevated water storage tank for Chikaming Township, with Universal Tank and Iron Works, Inc., for the sum of $43,700.00; and for a foundation for the aforementioned tank with Edwin Putzke for $4,350.00 in accordance with their bids submitted on September 29, 1966, funds for this construction to be taken from the special construction fund established by the $775,000.00 water revenue bond issue. Vote: ayes-11; nays-none.
There being no further business the meeting adjourned upon motion of Sperry, supported by O'Grady.
